

Wisconsin Major Faces Trial For Helping Enemy

FT. SILL, Okla. (AP)—Maj. Ambrose Nugent, a 44-year-old career artilleryman, goes before a general court-martial board today in what he calls the "most critical period of my life."

Nugent is charged with collaborating with the enemy while an Army prisoner of war in Korea. Ten colonels on the board will decide whether he is innocent or guilty.

Nugent, of Merrill, Wis., faces trial on 13 counts alleging violations of the Articles of War and the Uniform Code of Military Justice. The most serious charge accuses the World War II combat veteran of offering intelligence to his Communist captors. The Army says the offense is treasonable.

If 7 of the 10 colonels find him guilty, Nugent could be sentenced to life imprisonment. Maj. Gen. Edward T. Williams, commanding general of Ft. Sill, has ordered the death penalty not be considered.

Nugent, a former recruiting officer in southern Illinois, is also accused of making radio broadcasts blaming the war on "capitalistic Wall Street warmongers," impeding the escape of fellow prisoners and permitting the use of his photograph and signature on surrender leaflets.

Nugent denies all charges. He says his sole aim was to protect the lives and general welfare of his men. Nugent served 33 months in Europe and was a member of the 24th Division at the outbreak of the Korean hostilities.

Of five other American POWs accused of collaborating with the enemy, four have been convicted and the fifth is awaiting a court martial.

Deep South Has Light Snowfall

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Deep South, some portions of which had enough Sunday for making snowmen and snowballing, had prospects of more snow today with more precipitation forecast in freezing temperatures.

Upstate New York shoveled out from under a heavy fall that ranged up to 10 inches. Light snow was falling in Caribou, Maine, which had 39 inches on the ground, and in the western Great Lakes, Northern Plains and eastern slopes of the Rocky Mountains.

Most of the snow which fell in Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Florida Sunday melted quickly but some stayed long enough to provide children with winter delights unusual in that section.

Snow was general along a 200-mile stretch of the Gulf Coast. A weather observer estimated the fall at Mobile, Ala., at 8 to 9 inches—second heaviest in 55 years.

More snow was forecast for the Buffalo, N. Y., area, which had 2 to 10 inches Sunday.

Most of the nation had freezing weather.

Chinese Celebrate New 'Year Of Ram'

SINGAPORE (AP)—The nearly three million Chinese in Singapore and Malaya riotously celebrated the start of their new "Year of the Ram" today with soiled faces, firecracker explosions and parties.

Faces remained dirty because soap and water would wash away the good luck. Sweeping would have the same effect. And gambling was the vogue because tradition says fortunes will be made this year by taking chances.

Similar excitement prevailed in the other settlements of overseas scattered throughout the Far East, and in the Chinatowns of New York and San Francisco.

Chicago Couple Spend $32 A Day For Dope

CHICAGO (AP)—A penciled calendar detailed a couple's expenditure of $11,000 in a year for heroin.

The money went, at the rate of $32 a day for an eighth of an ounce, in a vain attempt to "recapture the ecstasy of that first shot," Mrs. Rose Mary Laird, 24, told three detectives.

They had come to her S. Michigan avenue apartment looking for her husband, James, a 36-year-old commercial artist. His employer says James wrote $2,000 of company checks and pocketed the proceeds. James vanished Thursday.

Mrs. Laird, a former railroad rate clerk, told detectives.

"We were each earning $150 a week but it wasn't enough. We borrowed from our families on the pretense of buying a home. We sold our furniture and pawned our clothing."

The attractive brunette said she took her first shot when she was bedridden with a backache a year ago and her husband suggested the cure.

Gov. Williams Expected To Ask For Corporation Profits Tax

LANSING (AP)—The Michigan Legislature will return tonight for its third week of the 1955 session, awaiting Gov. Williams' proposals for financing the dollar-heavy state program he has advocated for next year.

Plans now call for Williams to deliver his finance message to the lawmakers on Thursday and there is no question in the capitol but that the governor will ask for more taxes—probably in the form of a corporation profits tax.

He has advocated it for most of his six years in office, but to date the Legislature has refused to accept it.

Strategy Mapped In Michigan GOP

JACKSON (AP)—A pro-Eisenhower group of Michigan Republicans who reportedly seek to rebuild the state GOP, met in a closed session in Jackson Saturday to map out strategy.

John Feikens, Republican state chairman, said prior to the meeting, "The party has to re-orient its thinking and base its activities on the moderate progressive philosophy of President Eisenhower."

The group of 40, representing 14 state senatorial districts, reportedly sought to learn if Feikens was up for re-election at the party's state convention in Detroit Feb. 19. Feikens had said before he went in to the session, "I'll make my position clear at a meeting of the State Central Committee in Lansing Saturday."

It was reported unofficially that if Feikens wanted to stay on as chairman, the group would like to talk over future policies with him. Otherwise, it would throw its support behind another candidate.

Donald S. Leonard, defeated by Democratic Gov. Williams, in November, said: "I don't know what it's all about but I guess I was asked to come as titular head of the party in Michigan."

Wreck Kills 16 On British Train; Over 40 Injured

SUTTON COLDFIELD, England (AP)—Rescue workers dug through the twisted wreckage of the York-to-Bristol express today for more possible victims of the 60-mile-an-hour derailment which killed at least 16 persons Sunday and injured 42.

Police said more bodies, believed to be still in the piled-up debris of the train and the badly damaged Coldfield Sutton station, might raise the death toll to 18.

The train hurtled off the track just as it was passing the Sutton Coldfield station. The engine turned upside down, six coaches telescoped into each other and three of the four remaining cars smashed into the station building, which is not open on Sunday.

There was no immediate explanation of what caused the wreck.

A worse disaster was avoided by two railroad workers who leaped from the wrecked train and ran down the track to set a signal against another oncoming express. The second speeding train pulled up 200 yards short of the wreckage.

Firemen worked through the night removing the dead and injured. One doctor wriggled deep into the wreckage and amputated the leg of a trapped woman so she could be taken out.

Douglas Joins Truman On Hike

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Two great hikers got together Sunday and one made the other take a walk.

One was former President Harry S. Truman, whose early morning strolls long have been part of his routine. The other was Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

Douglas walked 189 miles last March along the old C&O Canal and the Potomac River from Cumberland, Md., to Washington.

Both attended a luncheon at a downtown hotel Sunday and Douglas' hike figured in the conversation. Afterward Douglas and Truman got ready to leave the hotel in Truman's car.

But Truman declined to bring the car around to the hotel entrance from its parking place. He said he figured a hiker like Douglas could walk to it. And they did.

Seine Overflows Paris Lowlands

PARIS (AP)—The swollen Seine, which flooded Paris cellars over the weekend in its highest rise in 31 years, began to fall today. The slight drop brought hope to nervous thousands in low-lying suburbs who had feared more water.

The mud-yellow river, which had been fed by melting Alpine snows, dropped a little more than an inch during the night. At 8 a. m., it stood at 23 feet—the same level as 24 hours earlier.

Experts predicted it would be several days before the water recedes.

In eastern France, the Moselle River was still rising, partly flooding about 100 towns and villages. The Garonne in southwest France was also rising, inundating areas near Toulouse, one of France's leading industrial centers.

Over 500 Million U. S. Economic Aid Going To Far East

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration plans to provide between 500 and 600 million dollars for economic aid in the Far East in the year starting July 1.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, disclosing the size of the program for the first time Sunday night in an NBC television interview, did not say how much of it would be loans and how much grants. Details, including the amount for each country, are still being worked out, he said.

United States May Fight For Formosa

'Meteor' Bomb Burns Resident Of Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Whatever it was, William C. Cunningham, 52, will tell you it was mighty hot.

He was standing in his bedroom in suburban Darby Township Sunday when he heard a crash of glass, turned and saw a fireball, about the size of a grapefruit, bounce off an oil heater to the floor. Then it exploded.

"It was hot and heavy and as he threw it, it blazed up and seemed to disintegrate. Some of it landed on the bed and exploded again."

Cunningham's right hand was burned almost to the bone.

Fire Marshal Francis X. Joseph of Delaware County said he might have been a meteorite. He tested it with a 1,700-degree flame from a propane torch but the object only glowed. He got no reaction with a magnet.

However, Dr. C. P. Oliver, emeritus professor of astronomy at the University of Pennsylvania, and Dr. I. M. Levitt, director of Fels Planetarium, both expressed doubt that it was a meteorite.

Dr. Oliver said:

"From everything that I have been told by the firemen and the fact that the object came through the window at an angle instead of through the roof, I believe it may have been a homemade bomb."

Dr. Levitt said most meteorites burned themselves out before they hit the ground and exploded when they were about 10 to 35 miles away from earth.

Democrats Will Resume Red Hunt

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) called the Senate Investigations subcommittee into session today to organize under his chairmanship and he said it may open up some new lines of inquiry.

He declined to give any details.

Also to be considered by the subcommittee, which was headed by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) in the last Congress, is various "unfinished business." In this category, McClellan said, is the Army's handling of the case of Irving Peress, the New York dentist who was promoted to major and then honorably discharged after he had refused to answer questions about communism.

McClellan added, however, that there still is some staff work to be done before the subcommittee can reopen hearings on the Peress case.

One of the principal purposes of today's meeting was to agree on a budget, which McClellan expects to be somewhat less than $200,000. McCarthy got $214,000 for the subcommittee's work last year.

McClellan said the subcommittee also may name a new chief counsel.

Robert F. Kennedy, brother of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), reportedly was slated for the job. The post has been vacant since Roy M. Cohn, one of the principals in the McCarthy-Army hearings, resigned last summer.

Fire Destroys 71-Year-Old Indian Church At Keshena

KESHENA, Wis. (AP)—St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church, a place of worship for members of Wisconsin Menominee Indians for 71 years, and an adjoining monastery were destroyed by fire Sunday.

Shawano County Sheriff Ted Eul estimated replacement cost at $300,000. He reported the blaze may have begun from faulty wiring in the attic. There were no injuries.

A nearby convent, threatened by the flames, and other buildings were saved by the firemen who fought the fire in zero temperatures.

The historic church, operated by the Order of St. Francis, was built in the heart of the reservation here in 1886. Its original wooden walls were reinforced through the years by brick siding. Complete interior remodeling was completed only last fall, at a cost of $5,000.

Rescued Airmen Tell Of 52-Hour Fight For Life In Rough Pacific

HONOLULU (AP)—The sharks bumped the bottom of the men's tiny raft . . . for hour upon hour the men took turns holding their fingers in a hole in the raft's bottom, or plugging it with corks from oar handles.

All about them the sea swelled and turned, hiding the seven lost men from searching planes overhead.

These were some of the elements in the fight for survival of the seven Navy airmen, including three from Michigan, who ditched their crippled PBV in the Pacific Wednesday.

Raft Blows Away

Details of the dramatic story of the 52-hour fight for life came in a radio report to the Hawaiian Sea Frontier Sunday from aboard the rescue vessel, the military transport Ainsworth. The men are due here Tuesday.

Disaster hit after the twin-engine amphibian plane developed engine trouble on a flight from Kwajalein to Johnston Island in the Central Pacific.

After the stricken ship hit the water, one raft blew away. The seven men clambered into the remaining raft.

The group included Lt. James G. Measel, the pilot, of Norfolk, Va., formerly of Farmington, Mich.; Machinist's Mate I.C. William C. Pavey of Warwick, R. I., formerly of Iron Mountain, Mich., and Electronics Technician Z.C. Jerome J. Waras of Detroit.

Smoke Bombs Sighted

The swells were "8 to 20 feet high." Rain squalls hit about every 40 minutes.

"The kite for the radio would not fly," the men reported, "so we floated a balloon which floated for an hour. Then the wind broke the antenna."

"Sharks were bumping the bottom of the raft and five of us were seasick."

On the second day the men cranked their radio periodically, but it was a day of only ill luck. Two search planes came into view but neither saw the tiny raft.

On Friday, the third day, a Coast Guard plane was sighted. Earlier rain had halted efforts at radio operation.

When the plane was seen, the men shot off smoke bombs. The plane saw them.

"They circled and came back. They dropped one raft which floated away. They dropped a radio which we recovered and we messaged we needed another raft."

Then came a B29 superfort plane. It dropped a 33-foot boat containing food, water and medical supplies.

"That was like the Fourth of July for us. Three minutes later we were all aboard the boat."

All seven came through the ordeal in good physical condition.

Security Threat Seen In Attacks By Chinese Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today asked Congress to declare "our readiness to fight" to keep Formosa out of Red hands and "to engage in whatever operations may be required to carry out that purpose."

In a special message, the President said "our purpose is peace" but that Red Chinese threats already pose a serious danger to this country's security "and indeed to the peace of the world."

May Have To Hit First

A declaration from Congress, Eisenhower said, "will reduce the possibility that the Chinese Communists, misjudging our firm purpose and national unity, might be disposed to challenge the position of the United States, and precipitate a major crisis which even they would neither anticipate nor desire."

The President made it plain that defense of Formosa might require hitting the Red Chinese before they left their home ports.

He said this country must be prepared to:

1. Help the Chinese Nationalists reemploy and consolidate their forces now scattered over many smaller islands off Red China's shores, and

2. "Be alert to any concentration or employment of Chinese Communist forces obviously under-

Seventh Fleet To Aid Islands Bombed By Reds

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Vice Adm. Alfred M. Pride, commander of the "standing at the ready" U.S. 7th Fleet, said today President Eisenhower was going to ask Congress for approval of evacuation of the Tachen Islands by the fleet.

The admiral said the chief executive was asking Congress because "it would be a very grave move and a major change in policy." But he said the fleet, if called upon, could cope with any eventuality.

Shells Miss Target

The Chinese Nationalist air force reported heavy losses were inflicted on Communist troops Sunday night in a raid on Yikiangshan by four-engine bombers, Ykianshan, eight miles north of Tachens fell to the Reds last week. It probably would be a springboard for any assault on the Tachens.

Another communique reported Communist artillery on Tachen Island "blindly fired" on the Tachens 13 miles away but all the shells "fell harmlessly into the sea."

Pride said the fleet, prepared for the evacuation and to protect other offshore islands, if so ordered, includes four large carriers—the Essex, Yorktown, Kearsarge and Wasp.

"I am not free to say what we plan to do," the admiral told a

Memorial Fund Drive Planned

Steve Baltic of Escanaba and John Norton of Gladstone have been appointed chairmen in their communities for the Gilbert L. Brown Memorial Fund of the Northern Michigan College in Marquette.

Chairmen of the fund drive in other communities in this area are: Francis Kowalski, Bark River; Willard Davidson, Cooks; Ann Fleming, Daggett; Arne Johnson, Hermansville; Carl Olson, Manistique; William MacNeil, Munising; Harold Anderson, Nahma; Zigmund Shesky, Powers; Norman Slough, Rapid River; Walter McClintock, Trenary; and Vic Manciewicz, Rock; Walter Gries, Negaunee, a member of the State Board of Education, is general chairman of the project.

The fund will provide a living memorial to Prof. Gilbert L. Brown who taught psychology and education at Marquette for 35 years. It is planned to provide a substantial cash scholarship annually to some promising and deserving Upper Peninsula student. The award will be made annually, beginning with the school years of 1955-56 to a student in college who has demonstrated "marked personal growth in his college career and who shows distinct promise of noteworthy achievement in the fields of psychology and education."

In the years from 1911 to 1946 thousands of students who sat in Prof. Brown's classes have become teachers in the schools of Michigan. Many of them are teaching in the schools of Delta County.

Prof. Brown's work extended beyond the classroom. He was the first to interest himself strongly in the subject of mental health and for many years was chairman of the Upper Peninsula committee on mental health.

Alumni of NMCE and friends of Prof. Brown will be contacted to create a fund for the award which will be administered by a committee of the college faculty.

Rock Legion Honor Roll Committee Compiling Data

ROCK—The Honor Roll committee of Rock American Legion Post 559, has completed the mailing of 275 information blanks to veterans of World War I, World War II and the Korean War and to service men in the armed forces through Dec. 31, 1954, from the area comprising Ewing, Turin and Maple Ridge Township.

To obtain all the names of the servicemen required a considerable amount of research by the committee and there is a possibility that there are some veterans in the area that were unknowingly omitted from the mailing list. For this reason the Legion Honor Roll committee would like to be notified of any veteran who did not receive a letter or information blank by contacting the Legion adjutant, Waino Alto at Rock.

All forms are to be returned by Feb. 1, in order that the material can be compiled and made ready for publication as soon as possible.

The initial plans for the book as laid out by the committee include a photo and military history of each veteran, a memorial to those who sacrificed their lives for the cause of freedom, a summary of World War I, II, and Korean War, the history of the local American Legion post and the dedication.

Plans for the sale of the Veterans Honor Roll book will not be completed until all returns are received from veterans and the book is made ready for publication. It will be on sale to the public as well as the veterans. Orders will be accepted from the public following the completion of the preliminary work.

Plan Costumes For Ice Revue

Bertha LaChapell, costume chairman for the annual ice revue, "Ice Varieties of 1955", reports that all costumes have been planned and sketched for the entire show.

Mrs. LaChapell left today for Chicago where she will purchase materials for costumes that are to be made and select costumes for rental during the show. Accompanying her to assist in the selections was Gordon Flath, who wrote and is directing two numbers, "Wizard of Oz" and "A Star Is Born", in the revue.

This year's production of "Wizard of Oz" will surpass that of the "Snow White" number in last year's show, Gordon predicted. Assisting in the narration of the two numbers will be Mrs. Lois Swank, who worked with Gordon in last year's show also.

Costumes for the winter and kitten number are near completion. However, there is much hand finishing to be done and anyone wishing to volunteer services is asked to come to Club 314 any afternoon between 2 and 5 p. m. Mrs. Roy Estenson will be at the club during Mrs. LaChapell's absence.

Costuming this year has proved somewhat difficult due to the many unusual costumes being made. Mothers of the performers are putting the finishing touches on many of them, such as sequins. With the mothers' cooperation and volunteer help from others in the community, the costuming in moving along right on schedule.

Taffetas Can Be Beautiful

by Melton McGovern, Graduate of National Institute of Dry Cleaning.

Taffetas are made of weighted silk, acetate, rayon and any or all of these three in combination as well as other materials, and they may also be sized or unsized.

Acetate taffetas are considered most serviceable, except perhaps for a tendency to form deep wrinkles which are sometimes difficult to remove. In fact, they may be impossible to remove if the wrinkle becomes so deep it actually cracks the fabric.

Weighted silk taffeta may exhibit a tendency to split.

Some rayon taffetas are not always serviceable. The difficulty here is not with the rayon itself but with the kind of finish it has been given.

Paper taffetas are often unpredictable. Their appearance sometimes depend entirely on the sizing.

Our recommendation, if you like taffeta, is that you buy a good serviceable taffeta in the first place. You might have to pay a little more for it, but it's well worth the difference. It will wear longer and look better. If in doubt, ask your merchant—or ask us. # Menominee's Request For Sales Tax Exemption Is Not Practical

THE Menominee Chamber of Commerce last week sounded out seven Michigan legislators on a proposal for exempting Menominee merchants from the state sales tax but the proposal received a cool reception. The legislators were in Menominee conducting a recount in the Goulette-Wilke legislative contest. Better reception was accorded the proposal for a Menominee-Frankfort ferry when the Straits of Mackinac bridge goes into operation.

Words, Wit & Wisdom

By William Morris

Tracing the origin of the word skirmish back to the Italian "scaramuccia" the other day put us in mind of the embarrassing situation in which some of Yale University's leading scholars found themselves a few years ago. At the dedication ceremony for a newly completed dormitory someone noticed what appeared to be a classical quotation graven in the keystone of the main archway. Beautifully lettered, it read:

"He was born with the gift of laughter And a sense that the world was mad." As soon as the quotation was noticed, an inquiry was begun to find out who chose this particular quotation—and who was its author, "Shakespeare," said some. "Cervantes," said others. But a diligent search of the works of these and many other great authors proved unavailing. What's more, all faculty members disclaimed responsibility for choosing the quotation and authorizing its inscription.

At length it was learned that an architect's assistant, in the earliest stages of drawing the plans, had roughly lettered in the text on the first sketch—his purpose being merely to indicate that eventually some inscription would appear in this position. Amazingly, the words he lettered in so carelessly that day survived revision after revision of the plans—and finally appeared in the finished edifice.

But this still left the main problem unsolved. Who wrote these lines? Surely the leading scholars of one of the nation's greatest universities should be able to identify the source of this challenging, dramatic and poetically phrased quotation? Surely they should—but the fact was that they couldn't and after many months the mystery was still unsolved until one evening.

Well, the rest of this tale may be apocryphal but they do say around New Haven that it was an assistant professor in the English Department who found the answer which brought chagrin to his colleagues. Finding his teen-aged daughter curled up with a popular romantic novel by Raphael Sabatini, he reprimanded her for reading such books. "How can you read this junk?" he asked, taking the book—its name, as you have guessed by now, was SCARAMOUCHE—from her. "Just listen!" He turned to the first page and to his absolute horror found that the opening words were the same as those graven above the archway: "He was born with the gift of laughter and a sense that the world was mad."

I hear Mr. Sabatini was very pleased about the whole thing!

Try And Stop Me By BENNETT CERF

H. Allen Smith tells about a reporter who heard of an apartment house fire and tried by phone to get somebody nearby to supply the details. By chance he was connected with a gent in the very apartment where the fire had started. Enchanted by finding himself an authority all of a sudden, the gent talked on and on, describing the progress of the flames, and the frantic efforts of the firemen to extinguish them. Finally, however, he said, "I guess I better hang up. I'm on fire myself!"

When Lewis Young, son of the noted New York hatter, was 16, he was allowed to help out at one of the stores on May 15, the day on which the entire male population used to buy straws for the summer season. One customer demanded an imitation panama. The only one the young could find was about four sizes too large, but that didn't stop him, so he plunked

Menominee merchants, of course, do have a problem concerning the Michigan sales tax. Wisconsin has no sales tax and Menominee merchants believe—and probably correctly so—that they are losing some of their business to Marinette merchants because of the sales tax issue.

Even so, we doubt that the approach of the Menominee Chamber of Commerce for a solution of the problem—exemption of Menominee merchants—is a practical solution. Menominee schools get a large portion of their operating revenue from state sales taxes, money that the schools must have. Menominee residents can hardly expect to be exempted from the state sales tax and still have sales tax revenue collected elsewhere be given to Menominee for operation of their schools.

Obviously if Menominee were to be exempted from the state sales tax by special legislation, there would be a roar and cry from border cities throughout the state for similar exemption. The end result would be a complete abandonment of the sales tax in Michigan.

Actually, we doubt that the state legally could exempt any of its communities from paying the state sales tax while still requiring all other communities to pay. The courts have consistently taken a dim view of that kind of discrimination.

BETTER DECIDED ON THE CAMPUSES (Detroit Free Press)

The question of local telecasts of home football games at the University of Michigan and Michigan State College presents aspects that provide no easy and ready answers.

Members of the Legislature, however, seem to have the idea that this entire controversy that has been raised in every part of the country can be settled just by passing a law or a resolution.

Michigan fans naturally want to watch the games on their TV sets. Not all of them are in a position to travel to Ann Arbor or East Lansing every Saturday afternoon of the season. They couldn't be accommodated in the stadiums if they could all make the trips. So there is considerable weight to the argument that the citizens who pay taxes to support the schools are entitled to have the games brought to them.

At the same time, there is the consideration of empty seats resulting from telecasts. The schools have a financial stake in the box office that is mighty important to them. Fritz Crisler, U. of M.'s athletic director, feels that local telecasts won't do any serious harm, and is willing that the Big Ten walk out of the National Collegiate Athletic Association if the latter won't relax its arbitrary rule on closed television. At least he's made the threat.

The schools themselves are most involved in this matter. They ought to be in the best position to make the decisions that will best serve their interests.

it onto the customer's head. It dropped down over the latter ears, forehead and eyes. Young "Lew" enthused, "Looks marvelous on you! If only you could see yourself it in this mirror!"

The Doctor Says . . . Palsy Sufferers Should Avoid Strenuous Exercise

By EDWIN P. JORDAN M. D. — Written for NEA Service

I find it somewhat difficult to discuss Parkinson's disease year after year because, although a good many people are working on it, progress in developing new treatments in distressingly slow. There are some—such as new drugs or new surgical procedures—but there does not seem to be anything as yet which reasonably can be defined as a sure cure.

Nevertheless, there is a great interest in Parkinson's disease (also known as "shaking palsy" or paralysis agitans) and this common disorder of the nervous system has to be discussed in this column from time to time.

THERE ARE TWO kinds of Parkinson's disease. One is that which develops in older people and more often in men than in women, the cause of which is not known. It is probably related to the aging process. Sometimes severe anxiety or shock brings on the symptoms but the real cause is probably something else.

Some infections, especially what is called epidemic encephalitis, which is a virus infection of the brain sometimes spoken of as American sleeping sickness, is responsible for the second variety. When Parkinson's disease develops from this cause, it comes about as frequently in women as in men. Of course, it is likely to occur at younger ages also.

THE SYMPTOMS generally begin gradually, usually in one hand. At first the typical shaking movement may not be present all of the time. A loss of muscular strength and stiff feeling may be the first signs. The muscular movements become less rapid and more difficult to carry through. The trembling movements at rest are not long delayed. Lack of expressiveness in the face is also characteristic.

Long periods of improvement are the rule. The disease is almost always a slow process and is likely to last many years. There is no pain and the mental condition is usually normal.

PEOPLE who have either kind of paralysis agitans are usually advised against becoming overtired. A reasonably active life with some work is good for most, but strenuous exercise is usually taboo. Cold water treatments, special exercises, sun baths, massage and vitamin preparation have all been tried without much success.

There are several drugs, including some relatively new ones, which are often helpful in controlling the "shakes" too, but there is no single treatment which will cure the condition. Most people get along with it for a long time without serious difficulty and it carries little direct damage to life.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — When President Eisenhower indicated that he would be glad to have the United Nations "exercise its good offices" so as to bring about a "cease fire" between the Communist government and the Nationalist government in China, there was opened up a field for discussion of a possible solution of the whole Far Eastern problem. Actually no change in American policy is in prospect.

On its face the "cease-fire" plan could lead to U. N. jurisdiction and the recognition of two separate entities—the Nationalist and the Communist. This has sometimes been referred to as the "two China" formula. In Britain the idea is favored because of a belief that Formosa would then be accepted as a separate republic while Red China would come into the United Nations as the original China mentioned in the United Nations charter.

Such a scheme would necessitate an acceptance by Red China of the idea of losing Formosa, now regarded as an integral part of China. The Nationalists, too, have never given up hope of trying to go back and win the mainland.

AGREEMENT UNLIKELY

All in all, it is, of course, in line with precedent for the President to suggest that "good offices" be used by the United Nations because any situation that endangers the peace of the world is logically within U. N. jurisdiction for investigation and for possible settlement.

But, while neither Red China nor the Nationalists would agree to any such proposal, it is likely that America will gain in the court of public opinion considerable credit for manifesting publicly a desire to end the fighting in a troublesome area. Up to now the Communist propaganda has endeavored to create the impression that the United States is anxious to instigate a war in the Far East. Mr. Eisenhower's announcement of his readiness to let the U. N. bring about a "cease fire" is proof of just the opposite.

Incidentally, the idea is something of a challenge to Chou En-Lai, the Red Chinese foreign minister. At Geneva last spring he scorned the United Nations and refused to listen to any proposal whereby the United Nations machinery would be employed to settle the Korean unification problem. Will he now accept jurisdiction of the U. N. to solve what has hitherto been regarded by Red China as an "internal" problem? If he did, he would naturally have no further justification from his own viewpoint for prolonging the stalemate in Korea. Efforts even in recent weeks to persuade the Red Chinese to agree to a United Nations commission to supervise a settlement in Korea have been unavailing.

The Formosa dilemma, especially the fighting around the islands off the coast of China, does not involve only the support of the Nationalist government of Chiang Kai-Shek by the United States. This is a mistake which Europeans make in appraising American policy.

CHECK AGAINST REDS

The truth is that, as long as American troops are in Korea and cannot be withdrawn, it is of the highest importance strategically to keep the Nationalist army on Formosa in a strong position. This army poses a threat to the mainland and causes the Red China government to maintain at least 1,000,000 soldiers nearby. If by any scheme Formosa were lost, all those Red troops now in that area would be free to move to North Korea and launch an attack on the South Korean Army.

Thus, the U. S. strategy in the Far East is to maintain the present check against Communist aggression as long as possible. Some of the islands near the coast of China are not important from a defense standpoint and probably will be evacuated by the Nationalists. But any attempt by Red China to attack Formosa will be met with force by the U. S. Seventh Fleet. The Communist Chinese do not have the amphibious equipment to land in Formosa or to hold the positions there so long as the American Navy, with its air power, encircles the island.

The President and Secretary Dulles have agreed on a line of policy which requires the defense of Formosa. But military men will have to decide as each contingency arises whether any other islands nearby will have to be defended in order to safeguard the approaches to the big island. The department of state, meanwhile, wants to see the mutual defense treaty with the Nationalist government promptly ratified by the Senate. There is no justification for any belief that the administration's Far Eastern policy has undergone any change.

Bowman's Dilemma!

Foodman's Recipe For 1955: Taxes, Unions, Freer Trade

By GAYNOR MADDOX

MINNEAPOLIS —(NEA)—More taxes, more unionization, freer international trade and more relaxed dinner tables—these are the things that can make 1955 a year of prosperity and peace.

That is the opinion of Iowa-born industrialist, Paul Gerot, president of Pillsbury Mills, Minneapolis, and first vice-president of Grocery Manufacturers of America.

"What's the sense of talking about a stabilized economy for 1955 unless our national defenses are so strong that no potential enemy would dare attack?" he asked. "Defense costs a lot of money. So let's not complain about taxes. I'd say to Secretary of State Dulles—keep us out of war at any cost. Make us pay for it."

Granted peace, the year ahead will see a stabilized national economy based on low unemployment, a high wage scale, greater and most efficient production, better treatment of farmers, and growth of responsible unionization, he told NEA Service in an exclusive interview.

"Maybe it sounds out of line for an industrialist to speak for more unions," he commented. "But hostility toward unions is out of date. Companies with that attitude are running against an economic trend and will dry up, as many of them already have."

"When organized labor makes it possible for the manufacturer to produce more consumer goods with the greatest efficiency at the lowest cost, then the manufacturer can pass on profits to workers. That helps keep expendable income fluid," he explained.

Gerot sees direct relationship between our own economy and a stable world economy. For the sake of a more assured peace and a healthier world situation, he believes we must have a freer international trade policy.

"For example, we can grow wheat and make it into flour cheaper than many other countries. We should be able to sell it to countries which cannot produce as economically as we can," he said. "In return we should be free to buy from other countries things they can produce cheaper and better than we. Dresden china is one example. But too burdensome tariff restrictions are halting this natural two-way flow of goods."

He admitted he believes in free trade "There are many complexities and difficulties in the way. If free trade is to come it will not be through barreling legislation through Congress," he insisted. "It will come only by thoughtful efforts to face the basic requirements of a realistic world economy."

We must have greater social stability. The American home must play a stronger part in world strategy if 1955 is to be a better year, according to this top industrialist.

"The greatest problem facing physicians, psychiatrists and clergymen is the results of unsettled homes. More and more families are just not sticking together," he pointed out. "This tendency can have adverse social and economic results."

He is convinced the modern American food manufacturer is helping to counteract this tendency. "One of the biggest factors in home life is the spirit of union developed by relaxed family gatherings. Almost all these center around the family meal shared together," he added.

"The more the food manufacturer does through research, efficiency and fair price to put an increasing variety of easy to prepare or ready to serve foods that taste good in the mother's or young bride's hands, the greater his contribution to social stability," he said.

"Peace, a vigorous economy and social stability are the three elements that can make 1955 a good year. Government, industry, labor and the American family must work together toward these goals. Looks like we ought to make it," Gerot concluded.

British Censors Put Ban On Film Bosoms

LONDON (NEA)—How long will it be before the British start putting panties on piano legs, as they did in the days of Queen Victoria?

Or will the word "legs" itself, become taboo, being replaced by the more refined and genteel "limbs?"

Observers are seriously asking themselves these questions as the big moral "clean-up" drive gets into high-gear here.

Mrs. Grundy is riding again, and this time American books, plays and films are among the victims of her witch-hunt.

Such outstanding American films as "On the Waterfront" are being given "X" certificates by the British censors, which means that they can be seen only by adults.

This bars them from the neighborhood "family" cinemas, but does not prevent West End exhibitors from advertising them as "The Xiest Film of the Year."

"The Immoralist," an American play which enjoyed a long run on Broadway, has been refused a license for public performance by the Lord Chamberlain. Its backers have had to content themselves with a short run at a private theater club.

A sober warning against "police censorship of literature" was issued recently by Bertrand Russell, Somerset Maugham and a half-dozen other top-ranking writers in Britain.

"It would be disastrous for English literature," their manifesto points out, "if authors had to write under the shadow of Old Bailey (London's famous criminal court)."

This warning followed the prosecution of five of Britain's most reputable publishing firms on charges of publishing "obscene libels."

"The prosecutions have frightened publishers and printers," reports The Manchester Guardian. "Blue pencils have never been so worn down . . . One publisher says that he dithers daily about whether the word 'bosom' is safe in certain contexts."

Ironically enough, the long-haired reformers, hailing the presence of a young queen on the British throne, are calling for the birth of a "New Elizabethan Age," forgetting that the original Elizabethans were a hard-drinking, wenching, lusty crew. The current purity campaign started with the banning of the 500-year-old classic, "The Decameron," by the magistrates of Swindon, a decision later reversed in the appellate courts.

In banning "The Decameron," the magistrates sought to introduce a new principle in book censorship, guilt by association.

They had no objection to a copy of Boccaccio's 14th Century masterpiece being circulated by the Swindon public library, but held that "The Decameron" automatically became obscene when displayed in a shop-window along with other spicy literature.

"France puts Rabelais on postage stamps, while England burns Boccaccio," commented one court observer.

The outlook for literature, however, is not wholly black. Juries are refusing to convict, which is one sign that Britain's 98-year-old Obscene Publications Act is out of date.

Out of five recent prosecutions for obscenity, one publisher, pleaded guilty, another was convicted by jury, the remaining three being acquitted.

In one case, involving an American novel, "The Philanderer," Mr. Justice Stable gave a memorable summing-up of evidence.

Sex, he told the jury, is a matter of "absorbing interest to men and women."

"Are we going to say in England that our contemporary literature is to be measured by what is suitable for the 14-year-old school girl to read?" he asked. The jury acquitted.

Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON

(NEA Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Brushing aside all the detailed figures accounting for the hundreds of millions of dollars in President Eisenhower's new $62.4 billion budget message, it can be looked at as a document expounding the Republican administration's philosophy of government.

It is, from many angles, what the President calls "moderately progressive." It strives for "a liberal attitude toward the welfare of the people and a conservative approach to the use of their money . . ." In this latter respect, the new budget message might be classified "moderately reactionary."

For the first time, requested appropriations for health, education and welfare are greater than requested appropriations for agriculture, commerce, general government, foreign aid or the development of natural resources.

THE DIFFERENCES ARE NOT MUCH—measured in millions of dollars—but they are significant. For here is an admission of how far the country has come along the road towards the much-damned welfare state of the 1930's. Only the proposed expenditures for national defense—two thirds of the total—for veterans' benefits and for interest on the public debt are now greater than for welfare.

Just what the total outlay for these welfare services will be is left rather vague. Special messages are still to come on a new health plan and aids to education. Also, Congress will have something to say on this.

While the Republican administration has generally been considered favorable to business, the proposed budget reductions for development of commerce are perfectly consistent and understandable.

In several places, President Eisenhower emphasizes his previously expressed desire to take the federal government out of enterprises which compete with private industry.

This is perhaps best illustrated by what the President proposes for the Tennessee Valley Authority. By cutting its expenditures 99 per cent, the Administration has, in effect, frozen TVA at its present size. The cut is $214 million to $2 million.

NO ALLOWANCE IS MADE for future expansion of TVA except by some plan, still in development stage, for financing "by means other than federal appropriations."

This proposal seems certain to renew charges that the Administration is determined to kill off TVA. It is bound to create a storm in the new Democratic Congress; far worse, perhaps, than the one stirred up by the Dixon-Yates contract with the Atomic Energy Commission.

The budget message also proposes to take the federal government out of other river system development plans, except for the proposed starts on the President's pet Upper Colorado River project and the Fryingpan-Arkansas River development which is also in Colorado.

The new system, to be emphasized in the Columbia River basin development, is to have the federal government develop resources in partnership with local government or private utilities.

The budget message proposes to cut the $40 billion defense budget by $1.75 billion in unspecified ways, merely by practicing economy. No one can quarrel with any general intent to reduce government expenses. But with some elements of Congress feeling that U. S. defenses have already been cut back too much, this proposal may run into an argument.

The foreign aid program is equally vague, with the much-talked-of aid for Asia and German rearmament figures still to come. Also, there is no breakdown on technical assistance.

ALL IN ALL, on the expenditures side, the new budget has more gaps in it than any submitted in recent years. Some of these gaps are blanketed in a $200 million item for contingencies nowhere explained.

On the revenue or taxation side, there is also some indefiniteness. Treasury studies on new tax legislation are not completed, but further tax cuts this year are ruled out. The possibility of tax increases in some fields is not ruled out.

The budget will remain unbalanced by an estimated $2.4 billion. The national debt limit will again have to be upped.

Further tax cuts are said to be possible next year. But how big they will be, and where they will be, is not revealed.

In general, the philosophy of the Administration is to place tax cuts ahead of budget balancing. The purpose is to provide incentives for business to expand further and so increase national income—to yield more taxes—to permit further tax cuts.

Mead To Honor 25-Year Men

Ruby-set service award pins will be pinned to the lapels of eight Escanaba Division employees of the Mead Corporation tonight. The awards will be made by Ford Shepherd, vice president in charge of public relations, at the House of Ludington this evening. The men who will be honored at the dinner have all completed 25 years of service with the company during the past year.

Award dinners are also being held at other mills and offices of the company. This year, 125 employees will receive their 25-year pins.

"Presentation of these 25-year awards is an annual custom of Mead", Mr. G. S. Douglas, division manager here, explained. "With the men and women who receive their pins this year, we will have almost eight hundred employees throughout the company with 25 years of service. This is just about one out of every seven of our people, a record of which we are very proud."

Mr. Shepherd has made a special trip to Escanaba from his office in Washington, D. C. to present the service awards to the Escanaba employees. The eight who will be honored are: Gustaf Setterlund, Patrick Miron, Manzer Way, Edward LaMarche, Hilding Swanson, George Chailier, William Wester.

Dogs Kill Sheep In Night Foray

Two sheep, one a ewe soon to freshen, were killed by night-raiding dogs on the Gordon Johnson farm at Carroll's Corners, with the loss estimated by the owner at $50. The sheep were killed between 11 p. m., and midnight Friday.

Orrie Switzer of Gladstone, Delta County dog warden, today said it has been definitely established that the sheep were killed by two, possibly three, dogs. One of the dogs was located because of sheep wool found on its collar, the warden said. The dog is owned by John Greene, who has agreed to pay one-half the damage, according to Switzer. The warden is continuing his investigation in an effort to locate the other dogs.

On the subject of state dog law enforcement, Switzer quoted the law as follows: "Confinement at night: Every dog shall at all times between sunset of each day and sunrise of the following day be confined upon the premises of its owner or custodian, except when said dog is otherwise under the reasonable control of some person."

Switzer noted that the law makes it the duty of law enforcement officers, upon complaint, to kill dogs running at large outside of incorporated cities. The dog warden emphasized that he seeks to keep dogs away from public places, including school playgrounds and ice rinks.

The dog warden said that so far this month, he has received 26 complaints concerning violations of the dog law, and that 20 of the dogs were destroyed.

Anyone desiring to get rid of their dogs may call Mr. Switzer at 92111, Gladstone, who will pick up the dogs and destroy them.

Folies-Bergere Boss Thinks He'd Do Better With American Cuties

PARIS (AP)—The man who runs the Folies-Bergere, which abounds in French cuties, says he'd be happier with a good British or American chorus line.

He also says: "The show, and especially the performers, maintain a high moral tone."

It takes half a million yards of material to make the costumes. French police ban showgirls without G-strings.

Gen. Eisenhower never asked to go backstage.

Most of these revelations are made in the recently published memoirs of Paul Derval, a bulky, jovial Frenchman who has owned the show for more than 30 years. He launched his treason about the chorus line in an explanatory interview.

Chorus, he explained, are not a matter of patriotism but of discipline. He said:

"Give an American or British chorus a batch of hats and tell them how to wear them, and they'll all wear them the same way. Good. Give the same hats to a French chorus—one girl will put her hat down over her nose, one will stretch it over both ears, another will pin it to the back of her head. "That," he concluded with an expansive Gallic gesture, "is French individualism. But it doesn't make a chorus line."

For the present, his dream of a British or American chorus remains a dream. Since the war, they've become too expensive.

It takes 10 months, 350 backstage employees and 150 million francs (about $425,000—a large sum in the French theater) to put on a Folies Bergere show.

Derval prides himself on what he considers the moral tone of the whole establishment and gives lectures arguing there's nothing immoral about nudes if they're "artistically presented."

Vivian Nye Is The Bride Of Joseph Frossard

Sacred Heart rectory at Schaffer was the setting for the wedding of Miss Vivian A. Nye, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Nye of Escanaba, and Joseph W. Frossard Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Frossard Sr. of Schaffer. The single ring ceremony was performed at 10 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 22, by the Rev. John Noel Arneith.

The bride's ballerina length gown of net over heavy bridal satin was designed with a sweetheart neckline and double net overskirt with three rows of narrow net ruffling. Long white gauntlets complemented the gown. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion was gathered to a high crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and pink roses with white satin streamers. Her rhinestone necklace and earrings were a gift of the bridegroom.

Honor Attendant

Mrs. Robert Kane, sister of the bridegroom, who was matron of honor, wore a ballerina length strapless gown of aqua net over satin and a white bolero. Her full shirred skirt had three rows of net ruffling set with silver sequins. Her sweetheart shaped headpiece and gloves matched the dress. She wore a rhinestone necklace and earrings, a gift of the bride and she carried yellow mums.

Robert Kane served as best man. Mrs. Nye wore a pale blue crepe dress with black accessories for her daughter's wedding and Mrs. Frossard was attired in light gray taffeta with pink lace inserts. The mothers' corsages were red roses.

Following the ceremony a breakfast and dinner were served at the bridegroom's home for the immediate members of both families. A reception for 150 guests was held at the Henry Brown home in Escanaba. A tiered wedding cake with a bridal couple ornament centered the table which was decorated in aqua and white. Sisters of the bridegroom, Miss Edna Frossard, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Earl Juneau assisted in serving.

If your child catches more than one cold a winter— SHE NEEDS RELIEF THAT DOES MORE THAN WORK ON CHEST

Relief from Stiffness, Coughing and Muscular Aches

The worst part of suffering from a cold is due to congestion and coughing. That's why your child needs medication that does more than just work on the chest. She needs Vicks VapoRub—because it acts two ways at once:

1. VapoRub relieves muscular soreness and stiffness, stimulates chest surfaces.
2. At the same time, VapoRub's special medicated vapors also bring relief with every breath. You can't see these vapors, but your child can feel them feel them as they travel deep into the nose, throat and large bronchial tubes. Congestion starts breaking up. Coughing eases. Soon she enjoys warming relief that lasts for hours.

So when colds strike, use the best-known home remedy to relieve suffering of colds—Vicks VapoRub.

Phantom Giver Puzzles Police

CHICAGO (AP)—Giving away money, an act which seldom figures in police cases, is becoming something of a mystifying problem for Chicago police.

In the last eight days a phantom philanthropist has handed out $650 in three known giveaways. Police have no idea if the mysterious benefactor has made other gifts which haven't been reported.

Authorities have no objections, of course. It's just that they wonder how long they'll have the task of determining if such gift money is genuine.

The first beneficiary of the phantom philanthropist, described as a man 45 to 50 years old and about 5-feet-10, was Cecil Mayes a young hitchhiker from Evergreen, N. C. Mayes said—and a lie test upheld his story—that Jan. 14 a stranger gave him $300 after ascertaining his faith in God, then drove away.

Next, a Negro carpenter turned up at police headquarters Thursday night to report a windfall of $100. He said the off-season Santa Claus talked with him for a few minutes while he was repairing the door transom at the front of an old building, gave him the money and disappeared.

Friday night Nathaniel Patterson, a 22-year-old Negro unemployed since his discharge from the Army a few days ago, walked into a police station with $250 in crisp bills he said were pressed into his hand by a stranger while he was waiting for a bus.

Dueling Is Passe In South Carolina

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—South Carolinians are ready to sever another link with the past by dropping the anti-dueling oath written into their 1895 Constitution.

A big majority of the voters in the last general election approved an amendment to eliminate that section of the oath required of elected and appointed state officials.

Ruins His Uniform While Saving Woman

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP)—Mail carrier John Walden is wearing a new uniform jacket, a gift from fellow workers. He lost his other jacket when he used it to smother flames which had engulfed Mrs. Doris MacCloskey after an explosion in her home. Walden had just delivered the mail when the blast occurred. He and a passerby put out the fire.

TRAFFIC DEADBEATS

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Police files contain more than 36,000 warrants for traffic law violators—with potential fines of about $500,000. Most violators were classified as "deadbeats"—persons who avoid paying any bills.

Contract Bridge

AN EXTREMELY RARE PLAY

In the average bridge session among experts there are apt to be a dozen or more throw-in plays, two or three squeezes, and perhaps a few other coups worth mentioning, but some experts go years without getting the opportunity for the elusive "smother play." That was why South in the following deal received many plaudits when the play was over.

West opened the diamond eight. Dummy's nine covered, but the ten forced the king and South was all too sure that the diamond queen was off-side. The lead of the club queen through West brought both good and bad news—good, because the king was on-side; bad, because it was apparently too well guarded to be caught.

For a moment (as he confessed later) South thought about trying for the diamond finesse despite his near-certainty that it would lose—but he reconsidered. He saw a quite different source of hope.

South cashed the top spades and ruffed dummy's low spade, then followed this same technique in hearts. Now, with his trump length reduced to West's, declarer led straight to the ace of diamonds and returned a diamond, staking his chances on the hope that the suit would break 3-3.

This hope was realized, and East had to lead back a spade or a heart. South ruffed with the ten—and West was "smothered."

North dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

If he over-trumped with the king, dummy's ace would win and South would have the nine (in dummy) and the jack for the fulfilling tricks; and if West preferred to under-trump, South's ten would of course hold the trick and he

Texas Longhorns Placed In Zoo

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The San Diego zoo counts two Texas longhorn steers, named Villa and Lobos, among its new attractions.

They were brought here from the federal government's Wichita Mountain refuge near Cache, Okla. Zoo officials said the 230 there represent about the last of the sturdy breed, developed from cattle brought to the new world in the 16th century by the Spaniard Villa Lobos.

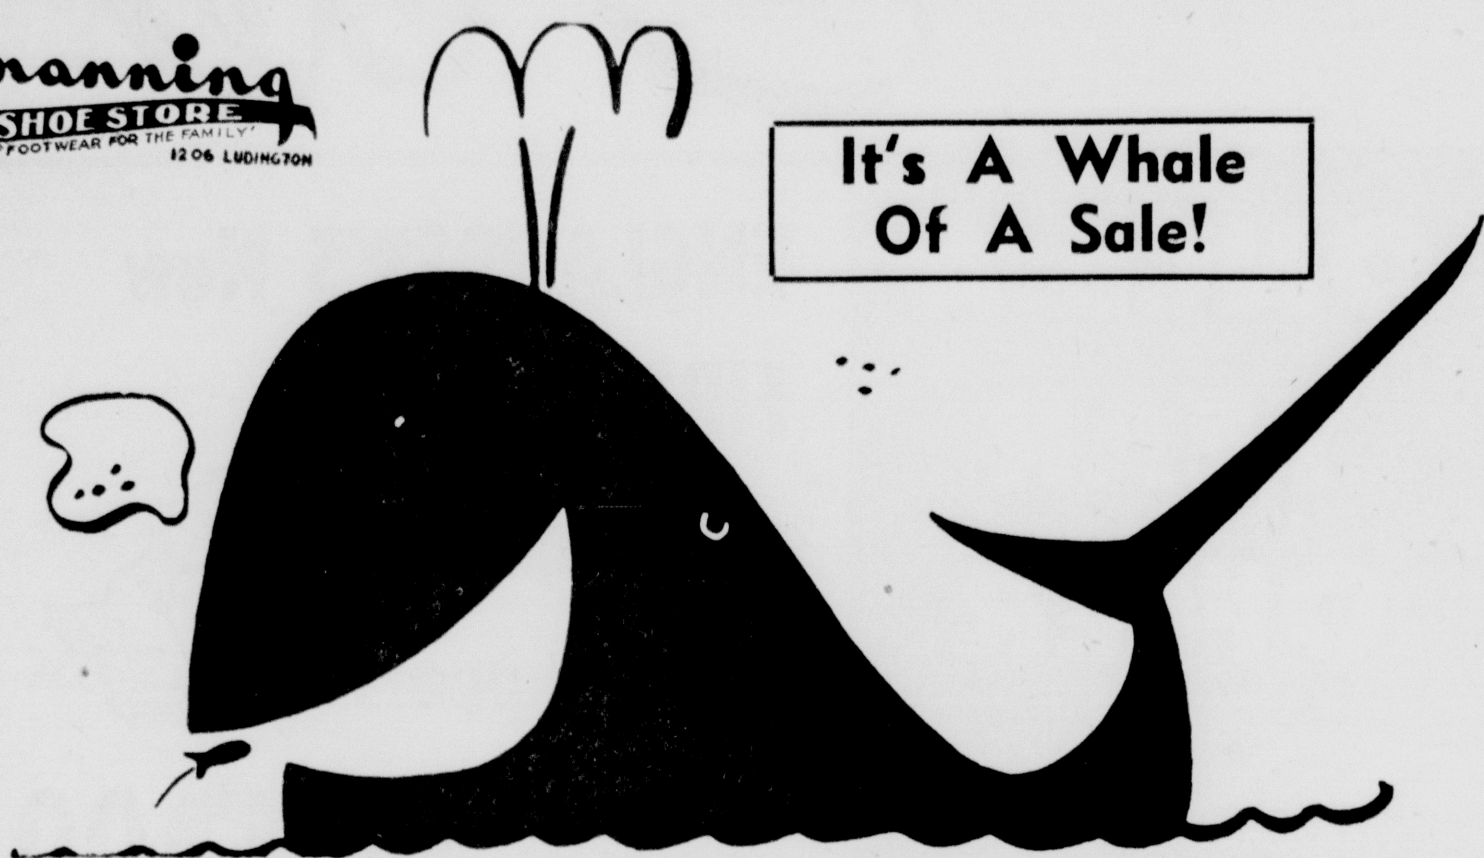

The zoo said it is the only one in the west exhibiting longhorns.

The Limping Goose

Frank Gruber
COPYRIGHT 1954 BY FRANK GRUBER. DISTRIBUTED BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Johnny Fletcher and Sam Cragg, attempting to make a few dollars as bill collectors, get involved in a murder. The victim, Jess Carmichael III, was slain in the apartment of Alice Cummings, from whom Fletcher and Cragg had collected for a fur coat. Part of the payment on the coat was a "goose bank" filled with small change.

VII

They reached the eighth floor and crossed to Room 821. Johnny took out his key to unlock the door, but before he could insert the key into the lock, the door was opened from inside and Lieutenant Madigan of Homicide said pleasantly, "Fletcher, old man, how are you?"

"The cops!" cried Sam. Lieutenant Madigan sized up Sam. "You lost some weight."

"I been off my feed." "You want to watch that," Madigan said. "Well, shall we sit down and talk?"

Madigan made himself comfortable on the edge of the bed, Johnny, going to the big Morris chair by the window, saw that the drawers of the dresser had been pulled out.

"You been goin' through our things?" he accused. "Naturally."

Madigan made himself comfortable. He was an efficient policeman, thoroughly honest and fair—but he was a policeman. He had known Johnny and Sam for years, but Johnny knew that that acquaintance meant nothing to the detective when he was investigating a case.

"We shoulda grabbed the sub-way," Sam said bitterly. "Miss Cummings told you we'd called on her," Johnny said bluntly. "Did she tell you why?"

"Yes, and I'm surprised at you, Fletcher."

"A buck is a buck," Johnny said. "Nobody likes a bill collector, but I needed the money and the lady could afford to pay."

"What're you talking about?" "I'm talking about the reason you said she told you."

"She said you tried to blackmail her."

"Blackmail! That's a dirty word."

"Murder's a dirtier word."

"Let's back up a few sentences," Johnny said. "I called on the little lady for one reason only—to collect a bill she owed for a fur coat she bought four years ago and didn't pay for."

Lieutenant Madigan looked skeptically at Johnny.

"Johnny Fletcher, a bill collector?"

"Why not?" retorted Johnny.

"Who knows better than a dead-beat how to collect from another deadbeat?"

The homicide lieutenant chuckled. "Deadbeat!"

"I'm leveling with you. You've known me for a long time. We're broke—flat. Peabody's going to throw us out tomorrow. So then this fellow from the Acme Adjustment Agency came around."

"On account of the mandolin," Sam Cragg cut in.

"That's beside the point," Johnny said irritably. "The point is this skip tracer and I had a—discussion."

"After I bounced him with a snap mare," chimed in Sam.

"One word led to another," Johnny went on, "and I made a bet with him. Ten bucks that I could trace and collect any skip he had in his pocket. He handed me this . . ." Johnny brought the card on Alice Cummings from his pocket.

The lieutenant studied it thoughtfully for a moment. "A fur coat for $69.95. She's got a mink now."

"But she never paid for the rabbit fur until today."

Madigan snapped a finger at the card. "This gives her address as the Chesterton Hotel. How'd you know she was at the Fifth Avenue place?"

"Like any good skip tracer would. The doorman at the Chesterton said he'd seen her getting into a cab with young Carmichael. I ran him down at the Harover Club and tricked him into telling me her address."

"You tricked him?" Madigan pounced on that.

"Fast talk, that's all. So then we called on the little lady. She didn't want to pay and I might have had a rough time collecting, but then the phone rang. It was the desk down in the lobby announcing Carmichael. She couldn't get us out fast enough—and she paid. We ran into Carmichael as we left the apartment. He was alive."

Madigan frowned as he tapped the card. "Your story checks, all right—I mean as far as leaving the apartment just about the time Carmichael went up. About the blackmail stuff, it's your word against Alice Cummings's."

"That card in your fist backs up the bill collecting."

"Yeah, but it doesn't say that you didn't put the squeeze on her to collect."

"What squeeze could I put on her?"

"You could threaten to tell Carmichael about her past."

"There's something to tell?"

"How do I know?" Madigan asked irritably. "She's been around."

"So has Carmichael the third or fourth. Besides, he wasn't marrying the doll. Or was he?"

"Mmm, the little lady says so. They were engaged."

"Carmichael's old man know about it?"

Lieutenant Madigan hesitated, then shrugged. "Mr. Carmichael isn't an easy man to reach. I, us,

Pig Smartest Of Hoofed Animals

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP)—Cornell University specialists say the pig probably is the smartest of the hoofed animals. The scientists, Dr. H. H. Dukes and Dr. A. U. Moore, say the horse "just isn't too bright."

Tests here showed pigs to be quickest of the hoofed group in responding to signals for food. The scientists say that pigs get no chance to show their intelligence because they usually go to market before they are a year old.

Given a chance, the specialists feel, the pig can be one of the cleanest of animals. He roots around in the dirt partly because the sensitive feeling device in his snout helps keep him in contact with his environment. In effect, pigs have "fingertips" in their noses.

They rank the hoofed animals' intelligence as follows: pigs, mules, horses, goats and sheep. The specialists say cows probably rate below horses, but the evidence is not clear.

Commission To Meet Tonight

Further discussion of the request to eliminate objectionable comic books from newsstands locally is expected to be made at tonight's meeting of the Gladstone City Commission, it is learned from City Manager H. J. Henrickson.

At the last regular meeting it was decided to invite local newsstand operators to discuss the situation with the commission to see if the matter could not be cared for without the adoption of a local curbing ordinance.

Continuation of the public hearing on the request of Joseph Horan, Wells to rezone a portion of the Assessors' Plat, is also scheduled. The request has been before the city since last summer and the owner of the property at the last meeting said that if favorable action was not taken within 30 days he would withdraw his request. Horan previously told the commission he desired to build a modern motel on the property which is now zoned as Class 1 residential.

Several bills in connection with the light plant construction will be up for consideration.

SYMBOLIC

In Greek mythology, Adonis was a beautiful youth beloved by Venus. When he was killed, Venus soothed her grief by converting him into a flower. The death and reappearance of Adonis in a beautiful form were supposed to symbolize the death of vegetation in winter and its revival in spring.

Dog Licenses Now Available

Owners of dogs in Delta County are being advised by letter by Orrie Switzer, county dog warden, that the time has come to obtain licenses for their pets or hunting companions.

The letter states that City and Township Treasurers now have the licenses on hand and from now to March 1 they may be procured from the city or township treasurers.

The fee is $1.00 for males and $2.00 for females. On or after March 1 the licenses are returned to the county treasurer's office and the fees double, in other words it is $2 for a male and $4 for a female. After that date the licenses may only be procured at the county office.

On or after June 15 a check will be made and all unlicensed dogs will be picked up and destroyed.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank the many friends who sent messages of good will, flowers or valuable gifts to me during my stay in St. Luke's Hospital. You will never know how much encouragement and help they provided me.

Signed:
Miss Alma Widar

RADIO COMMUNICATION is being employed for the first time this winter by the Schoolcraft county road commission, which last fall had a 150-foot tower erected and 60-watt units installed in six vehicles. The 250-watt base radio hookup is being used for transmitting instructions to snowplow operators and other employees on the 500-mile road system, and also is used for emergency communications. During the fire at the Germfask Hotel recently, John Lustila, road foreman at Germfask, used the radio hookup to establish contact with the Munising fire department, through Manistique, after telephone lines burned. In the top picture are the vehicles equipped with radio and, at left, Marcus Lindberg relays information from his truck while Albert Ackerman, road commission superintendent looks on. ## New Type Blood Service Is Adopted By Hospital

A new type of blood service program has been arranged for Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital and is scheduled to go into effect this week.

Under the new plan, the hospital will receive weekly shipments of 15 pints of blood from Bay City, through the North East Michigan blood bank association, and unused pints will be returned each week.

Patients receiving transfusions will be asked to replace the blood used, where possible, and otherwise $25 per pint will be charged. D. L. Larson, hospital administrator reported. He emphasizes that the hospital would prefer that patients replace blood, through donations by relatives or otherwise, rather than pay for it.

Every six weeks, the Bay City organization will send a unit here to obtain blood to replace that used, Larson said. All blood will

A lightning-like goal by Tony Mancini with two and a half minutes remaining in the game gave the Escanaba Hawks a 6-5 victory over the Portage Lake Pioneers here yesterday afternoon and left them in a position to take over first place in the Northern Michigan-Ontario League standings tomorrow night.

The victory gives the Hawks 10 points in the standings, good for a tie for fourth place with Portage Lake. But a victory over the league-leading Canadian Soo Esquires here Tuesday night would put the Hawks out in front of the pack.

A win over Soo is worth four points in the standings (because the Canadiens play only half as many games as the other teams in the league) and would give the Hawks 14 points. Calumet and Portage Lake also clash tomorrow night but neither could climb as high as the Hawks regardless of which team wins.

Lost To Soo 8-3
In their first meeting with the Soo sextet the Hawks held an early 2-0 lead but couldn't hold it and lost 8-3.
Tomorrow night Escanaba will be at full strength and Ben Artwich will be back in the nets. Ben, who has had some rough games this season, is primed for a good showing against the Canadiens.

Tired Babe Zaharias Wins Tampa Tourney
TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Babe Zaharias of Tampa tired badly at the end but held on to win the Tampa Open Golf tournament and $1,000 top money Sunday.
Mrs. Zaharias, who posted a 298 for the 72 holes, edged Louise Suggs, the Cincinnati pro, by one stroke. Miss Suggs got 300.
The Babe started the day one stroke up on Miss Suggs and increased her margin to four strokes after 13 holes. Then she faltered and barely held on for a 77, the same score Miss Suggs had posted a few minutes earlier.
In third place was Beverly Hanson of Indio, Calif., with 303.
Low amateur at 304 was Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga.

The Eskymos will be seeking revenge for a one-point defeat suffered at Marinette on Nov. 27. The Marines won that game, 48-47.
Escanaba suffered a setback at Ishpeming in its last start and owns a record of four wins in nine starts to date. The game here Tuesday night opens a stretch of four home stands. After Marinette the Eskymos will play host in order to Marquette, Stephenson and Gladstone. After that stretch, the Eskymos have only three more games, at Menominee and Manistique and against Kingsford here in the finale, Feb. 25.
For Holy Name, the schedule is the opposite. After playing at Lourdes Tuesday night, the Crusaders will travel to Green Bay Central Catholic Sunday afternoon. Then they will close their season with four straight home games against Munising, Stephenson, Rapid River and Gwinn.
Gladstone is idle until this weekend when the Braves swing back into action at Ishpeming Friday night.
Manistique will be at Negaunee on Friday night in its next start.

Football War Seems To Be About Finished

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The leaders of the Canadian Rugby Union ("Big Four") and the National Football League predict a further attempt will be made to end the football war.
Ralph Cooper of Hamilton, Ont., president of the Rugby Union, and four other Canadian representatives met with NFL commissioner Bert Bell Saturday in a four hour secret session.
Cooper said afterwards: "We will come to agreement, possibly within the next month or sooner. We want to. It is to our best interests."
Bell said, "We have come a long way toward burying the hatchet."

Montreal Returns To Top Spot In NHL Race
By The Associated Press
The Montreal Canadiens are back in first place in the National Hockey League today, thanks to their ability to manhandle the Chicago Black Hawks.
Montreal, leading by two points over the runnerup Detroit Red Wings, defeated the cellar-dwelling Hawks 5-3 Sunday night to sweep the weekend home-and-home series with Chicago. The Canadiens now boast 10 victories in 12 meetings with the Hawks.

In other games Sunday night the Red Wings snapped a three-game losing streak with a 4-0 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs and the New York Rangers remained in contention for a play off berth by blanking the Boston Bruins 2-0.

Holy Name Trims Gwinn For Fifth Straight Win, 64-56

GWINN—The Holy Name Crusaders stretched their victory string to five games here Saturday night by clipping Gwinn's Model Towners 64-56.

Coach Tom St. Germain's Crusaders opened with a 17-16 edge in the first period and stretched it to 10 points, 38-28, at the half. Still gaining momentum, the Crusaders boosted their lead to 57-44 at the three-quarter mark. The pace slowed somewhat in the fourth period and Gwinn closed the gap but was unable to catch the Holy Name quint.

John Berrigan, smooth Crusader pivotman, fell off his high scoring pace but still led the Crusaders with 22 points, boosting his season total to 268 points in 10 games.

Berrigan led the Crusaders in their second-period spurt that put the game on ice. He scored six points, Gary Paler hit six and Mike Venne four in the outburst.
Dennis McGinn, reserve forward, pelted the nets with 10 points in the third and fourth periods and finished second to Berrigan in the scoring column for Holy Name.

Jack Ghiardi, Gwinn forward, pumped 10 field goals and 10 free throws through the nets for 30 points. He scored 10 straight gift shots in a row before missing two late in the game. Gwinn missed only five of 21 from the foul line while the Crusaders missed only nine of 23.

The loss was Gwinn's third straight since the Model Towners lost the services of high-scoring Barry Mussatto who is sidelined with a broken finger.

Holy Name will travel to Marinette Lourdes Tuesday night and to Green Bay Central Catholic next Sunday afternoon.

In the Bee team preliminary Holy Name ran off with a 60-30 decision.

Emeralds Hand Eagles 79 To 74 Cage Setback

MANISTIQUE — The Manistique Emeralds snapped a two-game losing streak by turning in an impressive 79-74 victory over the high-flying Stephenson Eagles here Saturday night.

The victory evened Manistique's record at four wins and four defeats this season, and came after successive losses to Munising and Marquette in Great Lakes Conference competition.

Coach Rudie Brandstrom's Emeralds copped the win in the final period after leading 23-18 at the end of the first and 38-35 at the half. Stephenson tied it at 55-55 going into the finale.
After building up a substantial margin early in the fourth, the Emeralds coasted home with a 10-point lead with four minutes remaining in the game.

Bob Hastings led both teams with 26 points for the Emeralds. Three other Manistique cagers hit in double figures with Ken Dixer scoring 20, Bill Holm 10 and Don Anderson 11.
Coach Walt Schousen's Eagles

were again led by the tall forwards, Tom Kukuk and Jerry Martin, who hit 17 each. Ray Hubbard chipped in 15.

The loss came after Stephenson had turned back Escanaba, Gladstone and Holy Name quints in the past month.

Manistique returns to action Friday night at Negaunee. In the preliminary Bee team game the Emeralds took a 42-33 decision.

New Coach Raps Red Wing Play

DETROIT (AP)—It's all in the mind, said coach Jimmy Skinner after the Detroit Red Wings rebounded Sunday night with a strong 4-0 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs.

"This team can win anytime it wants," said Skinner, noticeably irritated. "It just has to put its mind to it."
Obviously, Skinner was still peeved over Detroit's three straight losses on the road—a disastrous trip which cost the Red Wings first place in the National Hockey League.

"We didn't suffer a serious letdown on the road," Skinner said. "We just became lax at times—usually the wrong times."
The Red Wings lost consecutive games in New York, Boston and Toronto that helped the Montreal Canadiens squeeze back into first place.

But the Detroiters were a different team when they returned to friendly Olympia Stadium last night. They dominated play from start to finish, making goalie Terry Sawchuk's 10th shutout a simple matter.

Sawchuk was called on to make only 14 saves, a mere two in the final period. It was his fourth straight shutout at home and left him three short of the modern record set by Toronto's Harry Lumley last year.

Four Red Wings shared the scoring—Dutch Reibel, Marty Pavelich, Gordie Howe and Marcel Bonin. It was Howe's 21st goal of the season.

Adrian Only State Unbeaten Cage Team
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Adrian remained the only undefeated college basketball team in Michigan this weekend—a slow one on the court front. The Bulldogs extended their winning streak to 12 games with a 93-65 victory over badly outclassed Ferris Institute.

Henry Hughes, Adrian's star center, played only about half a game, but managed to net 19 points to lead the Bulldog scoring.
Central Michigan defeated Michigan Normal 78-75 while Lawrence Tech went down to its 11th setback in 16 starts, a 76-66 loss to the University of Toronto.

The Blue Devils were behind 43-29 at the half. Tech's Walter Dzurus was high point man for the night with 22.

At Mt. Pleasant, Central Michigan trailed until the closing minutes then rallied to make their Interstate Conference record 2-3. Normal has a 3-2 mark.

Miksik And Morgan Sign Cub Contracts
CHICAGO (AP)—Infielders Eddie Miksik and Vern Morgan today became the 19th and 20th Chicago Cubs to sign their 1954 contracts.
Miksik, 28, is a 10-year veteran in the majors, batted .202 in '38 game's last season.
Morgan, 25, came up to the Cubs late last season after leading Des Moines of the Western League with a .322 average in 112 games.

Pirates May Move Out Of Cellar This Season
NEW YORK (AP)—This may be the year the Pittsburgh Pirates come up for air and vacate the National League cellar for the first time in four years.
General Manager Branch Rickey has managed to round up a list of highly promising rookies headed by outfielders Roberto Clemente, Earl Smith and Lee Walls; infielders Gene and George Freese and Reno De Benedetti; and pitchers Roger Bowman, Nelson King, Bob Garber and Lino Donoso.
Clemente, a 20-year-old draftee plucked from Brooklyn's Montreal farm club batted only 5.27 at Montreal but currently is hitting around .365 in the Puerto Rican League, second only to Willie Mays.
Smith comes from Phoenix in the class C Arizona-Texas League. His terrific clouting enabled him to lead the circuit with a remarkable total of 195 runs batted in. His 210 hits included 32 doubles, 11 triples and 35 homers.

Rickey is high on Bowman and Walls. Bowman was the Pacific Coast League's biggest winner with his 22-13 record at Hollywood. Walls, a speedy flycatcher, batted .289 in 162 games with the same club.
Donoso, a wily left hander, had a 19-8 record with Hollywood.
Gene Freese, is regarded as the leading candidate for the regular second base job. Gene, 19, batted .332 and drove in 98 runs for New Orleans. His brother, George, 20, batted .324 at third base for New Orleans and drove in 104 runs.
De Benedetti, 24, was the Western League batting champion with .331 and led with 183 hits and 39 doubles.
King, a 6-6 right hander, posted a 16-5 won and lost record and paced the Southern Association pitchers with a 2.25 earned run percentage. Garber led the Western Association in strikeouts, fanning 173 batters for Denver.

Big Ten Cage Race Is Tightest In 20 Years

By JOE MOOSHIL
CHICAGO (P)—One of the tightest Big Ten basketball races in two decades resumes tonight with Minnesota and Northwestern clashing for the league lead at Minneapolis. Not since 1926 when four teams finished in a first-place tie with 8-4 records has conference competition been so keen.

Northwestern, fourth team to gain the lead in three weeks, is on top with a 3-1 record by virtue of its 93-73 victory over Iowa in a nationally-televised game Saturday followed by Michigan State's 87-75 upset of Minnesota.

Freeman Wrenches Ankle
Minnesota, Iowa and Illinois are led for second with 3-2 records. Iowa will try to bounce back against Ohio State tonight at Columbus in the only other conference game. The Bucks dropped into the cellar Saturday after a 93-82 drubbing at Purdue.

Ohio State scoring star Robin Freeman was forced to leave the game early with a wrenched ankle to ruin Buckeye chances for victory. Freeman scored 20 points before leaving.

Northwestern could remain ahead of the field by duplicating its earlier 74-72 victory over Minnesota. However, Northwestern's three victories were at home and Minnesota figures to be tougher at Minneapolis.

Spartans Use Speed

Northwestern flashed speed remarkable shooting and rebound control to run away from Iowa while Michigan State relied on speed alone to beat the Gophers. The Spartan fast break often left Minnesota's lumbering Bill Simonovich in the back court giving Michigan State a big advantage.

As a result, the 6 foot 11 center played about half the game and finished with 9 points, far below his 15 point average.

Minnesota's Dick Garmaker scored 30 points and Chuck Menzel added 20 but Michigan State's scoring twins, Al Ferrari and Julius McCoy, more than equalled the output with 27 points each.

Baseball Rule Changes Listed

CHICAGO (P)—The intentional pass may be boomerang with a hit or a balk this season under a new baseball rule whacking the catcher's box from 16 feet of roaming room to only 43 inches.

That change and a "stopwatch" mandate for a pitcher to deliver within 20 seconds when the sacks are empty are the foremost of some 49 revisions this year by baseball's official Playing Rules Committee.

The changes were disclosed today by Jim Gallagher, business manager of the Chicago Cubs, who serves as chairman of the nine-man committee.

The catcher's box will be reduced to a rectangular area, 43 inches wide directly behind home plate, which is 17 inches wide. The former triangular catcher's box flared back to a 16-foot width.

A wild pitcher might thereby toss one that a long-limbed hitter like Ted Williams could smash for a hit.

If the catcher gets outside his 43-inch box before the ball leaves the pitcher's hand, a balk will be called.

The rule prodding pitchers to hurl within 20 seconds with the bases unoccupied long has been on the books, but now both the American and National leagues are being asked to enforce it by use of a stopwatch by the third base umpire.

The penalty is calling of a "balk" by the umpire. The rule is directed against senseless and unnecessary delays.

Gardner Mulloy Will Resume Net Career

DENVER (P)—Gardner Mulloy, 41-year-old amateur tennis star, said today he doesn't plan to resume playing in tournaments until "sometime this summer" even though a suspension handed him by the U.S. Lawn Tennis Assn. expires March 24.

The USLTA suspended Mulloy for his practices in directing a Miami tennis tournament last February. He was accused of paying some contestants more than the promised fee while cutting the expense accounts of others.

Mulloy said he would have no comment on the suspension. It is for six months, but is retroactive to last Sept. 24.

Bolt Is Winner At San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (P)—The 1955 San Diego $15,000 open golf tournament will be officially registered as one captured by Tommy Bolt, with a 14-under-par score of 274.

In San Diego, however, it will be remembered as the one Gene Littler lost, beaten back to seventh with a score of 279.

Sandwiched between Bolt and Littler, in the official records, will be the names of Johnny Palmer, runner-up to Bolt 276; Ted Kroll and Freddie Haas Jr., 277; Bo Wininger and Jack Burke, 278.

Bolt surged out in front with his first-round 64 and never let loose of the lead, with middle rounds of 67 and 72, and wound up Sunday with a neat and successful 71.

With likeable Gene, a pro just one year, things were different. He is the idol of golf bugs here in his hometown. He won the recent rich Los Angeles Open, he won the San Diego event as an amateur in 1954 and he was the general favorite this year.

Littler looked strong with his opening 69-66, just four strokes behind Bolt at the midway point of the tournament. Then two days ago he had a bad day and shot a 73. It shoved him well back.

Bolt had an unspectacular par 72, but it was still good enough to keep him three strokes in front of anyone else.

Bolt picked up the big loot—$2,400. Littler settled for $700.

Nielsen Hands Santee Defeat At Washington

WASHINGTON (P)—Gunnar Nielsen, and Wes Santee each predicts he'll break the world indoor mile record this winter—and each will have plenty of chances in a protracted duel set up for the eastern boards.

With a victory apiece, they'll meet again in Boston Saturday. Nielsen made Santee look bad in winning the Washington Evening Star games mile Saturday. The Dane beat the Kansas star by 15 feet, pulling away on the last lap as if Santee were standing still. The night before at Philadelphia, Santee came home eight yards ahead.

Nielsen said he was sure he'd lower the record of 4:05.3 set by Gil Dodds in 1948.

Santee called his Washington defeat "just one of those breaks" and complained that the pace was so slow he had to take the lead far too early.

Nielsen was clocked in the brilliant time of 4:09.5 over the slow flat track at the National Guard Armory. That time lowered the meet record by nearly four seconds but Nielsen said he should have done a lot better.

Bob McMillen, second place in the 1500 meters in the 1952 Olympics, finished 15 yards behind Santee in third place.

All told, six meet records fell in the Star games, the most significant being the mile and the pole vault, won by the Rev. Bob Richards, who went over the 15-foot mark for the 61st time in setting a record of 15 feet, 4 inches.

Don Laz, who couldn't break 15 feet Saturday, held the old standard of 15 feet, 3 inches.

Eastern Division Of Pro Cage Loop Close

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It looks as if the Eastern Division Race in the National Basketball Assn. will go right down to the wire with Syracuse, Boston and New York all challenging for the title.

The Boston Celtics edged the Philadelphia Warriors 94-91 in overtime Sunday to move within one half game of the first place Syracuse Nationals, who bowed to the New York Knicks 98-89. The Knicks, in third place, are only two games off the pace.

In Western Division action Sunday, the front-running Fort Wayne Pistons breezed to a 105-84 victory over Rochester while the runner-up Minneapolis Lakers kept pace by downing Milwaukee 82-79.

The Milwaukee Braves have high hopes for George Crowe in 1955. He led the American Assn. with 128 runs batted in and finished second in home runs with 34. His batting mark was .334.

Nagy And Wene Win All-Star Keg Titles

CHICAGO (P)—It took a long time but it was worth waiting for was the exclamation of Steve Nagy and Sylvia Wene today following their victories in the National All-Star Bowling Tournament.

Nagy, 41-year-old bowling alley proprietor from Cleveland, had taken part in 13 tournaments before reaching his "ambition."

Nagy, who came from second place to overtake Ed Lubanski of Detroit in the final round, came close in 1948 but finished third to Connie Schwoegler of Madison, Wis.

Second Last Year

Miss Wene, 26-year-old sales lady from Philadelphia, finished second last year and in 1951.

"I only wish my mother (who died Oct. 3, 1954) was here to witness my triumph," she said. "It's the happiest moment of my life."

Sylvia took the lead at the half way mark and was never headed. She won by splitting two games with defending champion Mrs. Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., five-time winner who earlier announced her retirement.

Nagy said "I felt as if I had a chance after the first game." In the first game of the final round, Lubanski, leading through the final day, failed to negotiate a 4-7-10 split finishing with a 190 to 199 for Nagy.

Baseball Rule Changes Listed

CHICAGO (P)—The intentional pass may be boomerang with a hit or a balk this season under a new baseball rule whacking the catcher's box from 16 feet of roaming room to only 43 inches.

That change and a "stopwatch" mandate for a pitcher to deliver within 20 seconds when the sacks are empty are the foremost of some 49 revisions this year by baseball's official Playing Rules Committee.

The changes were disclosed today by Jim Gallagher, business manager of the Chicago Cubs, who serves as chairman of the nine-man committee.

The catcher's box will be reduced to a rectangular area, 43 inches wide directly behind home plate, which is 17 inches wide. The former triangular catcher's box flared back to a 16-foot width.

A wild pitcher might thereby toss one that a long-limbed hitter like Ted Williams could smash for a hit.

If the catcher gets outside his 43-inch box before the ball leaves the pitcher's hand, a balk will be called.

The rule prodding pitchers to hurl within 20 seconds with the bases unoccupied long has been on the books, but now both the American and National leagues are being asked to enforce it by use of a stopwatch by the third base umpire.

The penalty is calling of a "balk" by the umpire. The rule is directed against senseless and unnecessary delays.

Siexas Advances In Aussie Net Tourney

ADELAIDE, Australia (P)—Vic Siexas of Philadelphia breezed in to the quarterfinals of the Australian National tennis championships today, but another American, Mike Green of Miami Beach, Fla., was eliminated from the tournament.

Siexas, U.S. national champion and the hero of the United States Davis Cup victory last month, whipped Malcolm Anderson, a young Australian prospect, 6-2, 6-0, 6-2.

Green, a junior player who went to Australia with the Davis Cup squad to gain experience, was eliminated by Rex Hartwig of Australia, 6-1, 9-11, 6-0, 6-2.

To feather a ball in pocket billiards means to hit it very thin.

Nielsen was clocked in the brilliant time of 4:09.5 over the slow flat track at the National Guard Armory. That time lowered the meet record by nearly four seconds but Nielsen said he should have done a lot better.

Bob McMillen, second place in the 1500 meters in the 1952 Olympics, finished 15 yards behind Santee in third place.

All told, six meet records fell in the Star games, the most significant being the mile and the pole vault, won by the Rev. Bob Richards, who went over the 15-foot mark for the 61st time in setting a record of 15 feet, 4 inches.

Don Laz, who couldn't break 15 feet Saturday, held the old standard of 15 feet, 3 inches.

Nielsen said he was sure he'd lower the record of 4:05.3 set by Gil Dodds in 1948.

Santee called his Washington defeat "just one of those breaks" and complained that the pace was so slow he had to take the lead far too early.
